

STATE FAIR LIKE GREAT UNIVERSITY

HAS SOMETHING TO TEACH ALL BY DISPLAYING BEST OF ALL PRODUCTS.

GIVES TRUE REFLECTION OF MICHIGAN'S PROGRESS

Few universities are enabled to disseminate as much knowledge along the lines of all of life's activities as does the Michigan State Fair, which will hold its 72nd annual exhibition in Detroit, Sept. 2-11. For the people of the state generally the annual state fair is a fount of information about the things they are most concerned with in their every-day existence.

The state fair exhibits show the best that is produced in agriculture, livestock, dairying, poultry, automotive trades, machinery, industrial work of varied sorts, road building, arts and sciences, city and country school work, home work, such as needlework, handicraft work, garment-making, canning and numerous other sorts of endeavor. No matter in what line or variety of lines any person is interested he can find much of an instructive nature among the fair exhibits.

Michigan's state fair has taken rank as the best in the whole of America. Its coming show will be greater in scope and size and pay more in premiums than any ever held before. It will be the most instructive exposition of its kind to date.

"More than ever the state fair of today has become a leading educational institution," said Secretary-Manager G. W. Dickinson, of the state fair, discussing this feature. "It shows better than any other way can show how the state is developing and what it is accomplishing. It brings the people of the state together—the farmer, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the woman interested in industrial or domestic matters, and the children who are just becoming interested in some line of life's activities.

"It shows to each one the best that is being accomplished in what he is most concerned with, and it gives to each one the opportunity to see what others are doing. The fair is a great mirror of the state's progress and this year it will have more such progress to reflect than ever before in its history."

DETROIT MERCHANT HEADS STATE FAIR ART EXHIBIT

The state fair as a whole is a work of art. It should be made attractive to all who come to see it, both in its entirety and in all its details. The art department of the fair will encourage the development of artistic displays and aid in making all features artistic in the fair to be held in Detroit, September 2-11.

This is the attitude of Oscar K. Webber, of the J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit, member of the State Fair Board of Managers in charge of the art department of the fair, and of H. M. Kurtzworth, director of the department. Their idea is that everyone should be something of an artist in the things he buys and uses and something of a designer in the things he makes and sells.

Therefore the aim is to have the art department at the fair show how the American home can be made more attractive in its appearance; how the libraries, museums and public buildings may be improved; how raw materials may be made into better designed products; and to enable the department to bring the hundreds of thousands of state fair visitors into contact with artistic displays of makers of fine goods.

Splendid exhibits in the arts and crafts will feature the 1921 fair. There will be daily lectures and demonstrations in both throughout the ten days of the fair. Director Kurtzworth, of the Michigan Art Institute, Paul Honore and other authorities will lecture each day on some definite topic related to art, their talks being illustrated with studio material or live models. In the crafts there will be special lesson lectures on definite topics each day, including stenciling, designing, weaving, carving, enameling, decorating and other subjects.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement

Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business.

They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations. Street cars were unknown to them; telephones unheard of; trains not to be believed even when beheld.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane until someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them. They had never even seen a movie!

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement?

What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants!

The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat!

Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production. Thus we are able to maintain for all a constant supply of such choice and necessary foods as Premium Milk-fed Chickens, Brookfield Butter and Brookfield Eggs.
